

Gelu R-1

€480.00

The R model represents a turning point for our saddles, both aesthetically and structurally, as well as functionally.

Weighing between 43g and 53g, this model is one of our lightest saddles, yet it features a number of details that set it apart from our other models: the rails are much longer and thicker, allowing for a wider range of adjustments, and at the same time extend in a single piece under the front tip of the saddle, making it unbreakable. The front tip is slightly shorter and much more robust, the central opening features a new geometry with a "teardrop" design and is reinforced all around with a rounded carbon profile that offers great strength to the saddle and works with "drop stop". The holes in the saddle are not made directly on the surface, but rather within specially developed "depressions" to give the saddle great strength and also a more elegant appearance. Between the rear flaps, we placed a horizontal "blade" that offers a lot of resistance to the saddle.

Compact and ergonomic, this model adapts easily to any bone structure. The central opening was specially designed to ensure the total absence of pressure in the prostate region. Orthopedically certified.
